

ABSTRACT

The present invention describes a novelty method and apparatus whereby two parties create taste sensations by one or both persons placing a soluble, flavored substance on the tongue, and then deep kissing, and using their respective tongues to cause the substance(s) to be placed, or commingled, on the tongues of both individuals, thereby producing taste sensations for both persons.